Psychology 125
Spring 2011

Lisa Brunick
lisa.brunick@augie.edu
Clickers Test:
Did you watch the Super Bowl?

1. Yes
2. No
I am familiar with APA citation style.

1. Yes
2. No
Elements of a citation.

- What should be included in a citation?
- Pair and share 😊
Activity!

- A citation will display on the screen.
- Determine if it is a book, book chapter or article
- Use your “clicker” to select your answer.

1. Book
2. Book Chapter
3. Article

1. Book
2. Book Chapter
3. Article
PERRY MASON: Hamilton, I believe that my client is telling the truth when she says she was nowhere near the scene of the crime.

HAMILTON BURGER: Perry, why don’t we let the jury decide?

PERRY MASON: Because, Hamilton, I don’t believe there is going to be a trial. You haven’t got a case. All you have is circumstantial evidence.

HAMILTON BURGER: Well, Perry, I suppose this is as good a time as any to tell you. We have someone who saw the whole thing, Perry. We have an eyewitness!

And, as the mysterious music rises in a crescendo, we know that this is going to be another difficult case for the most victorious TV lawyer of all time, Perry Mason. Even though we are reasonably certain Mason will prevail in the end, the presence of a single eyewitness to the crime has seemingly changed a weak
Primary vs Secondary Sources in Psychology

- A primary source
  - is the original publication of new data, results, and/or theories
  - is factual NOT interpretive
  - is authored by individual(s) responsible for the production of the new scientific information

- A secondary source
  - interprets and/or reviews previous research findings
  - compares and/or contrasts previous research findings
How would I find my item?

- Book or Book chapter
  - Library catalog
  - Search book title
  - Location line
  - Call number

- Article
  - PsycINFO
  - Journal Finder
  - Full-text links
  - Library owns print
  - No results
  - Interlibrary Loan
  - Web form or e-mail